PRESIDENT'S LETTER

This time last year, I wrote about the preparations for our municipal elections. Given what has happened in the past year, it seems so long ago. It is a rare thing to have two elections within one year, but such will be the case this year.

Our municipal by-election has passed and our new councillor, Rawlson King, is now well-established and has been very busy indeed. Our federal election will take place on Monday, October 21, and as is our tradition, the RPRA, along with the neighbouring communities of New Edinburgh, Lindenlea and Manor Park, will be hosting a candidates' debate in Queen Juliana Hall at Rockcliffe Park Public School. We hope to hold this on Tuesday, October 8, at 7:00 pm, but as of this writing, that date has not been confirmed. The RPRA will be sending out email alerts to our members and will be posting signs informing everyone of the date as soon as we have it. While the Liberal Party candidate will be familiar to all, the NDP, the Green Party and the Conservative Party all have new candidates for this riding so this will be a chance for you to meet them in person.

In addition, Lucille Collard was recently nominated in Ottawa-Vanier as the Liberal candidate to replace Nathalie Des Rosiers, so we will have another by-election in the coming months. By law, the election must be called by 2 February 2020. We will keep you posted and will organize a candidates' debate at the appropriate time.

The situation at the Pond and our conservation area has become even more difficult over the last few months. The emergent "beach" is larger and the guide ropes to discourage recreational use of the exposed pond bed are routinely ignored. The pumping programme has proven to be largely ineffective and will likely be discontinued. Our Pond Committee, ably led by former RPRA president Brian Dickson, will be meeting with the City in October to review these and other matters.

After a successful outdoor movie night in July, the attempt to recreate that magic with a more contemporary film of interest to a wider and younger audience was unfortunately thwarted by rain so the event had to be cancelled. The evening in July was so popular, though, that we plan to make every effort to bring another classic to the Jubilee Garden next summer.

Our Speakers Series kicked off this season a few weeks ago with the Hon. Perrin Beatty speaking to a full house. On October 9, Ottawa architect Barry Padolsky will be giving an update on the situation facing the Château Laurier. This will be most relevant, as the Committee of Adjustment will have given its September 27 ruling and there will surely be plenty to discuss. A big thanks to Susan d'Aquino for continuing to organize this series. A full schedule of upcoming speaker events can be found on page 4 of this newsletter.

Looking ahead, the RPRA will again be launching an annual fundraising drive for the food bank at the Rideau-Rockcliffe Community Resource Centre. Given the overwhelmingly positive feedback we received last year for our Community Get-Together and Silent Auction, we will be doing it again this year on December 6 at 5:30 pm at St. Bartholomew's Church in New Edinburgh – see details on page 10 of this newsletter. These events require a lot of manpower to organize and stage. If you would like to help in any way, or if you or someone you know would like to donate an item for the silent auction, please get in touch with us as soon as possible at secretary@rockcliffepark.ca.

And while we are on the subject of volunteering, if you would like to get involved in the community, please do get in touch with one of the Board members listed on the first page of this newsletter. An effective community association is only as good as its members. You don't have to become a Board member to get involved, although we do have space and we are actively looking for a few new members. I hope you will consider joining us.

Wishing you all a peaceful and plentiful Thanksgiving holiday.

Peter Lewis, 20 September 2019

THE VILLAGE FOUNDATION

FRIENDS OF THE VILLAGE OF ROCKCLIFFE PARK FOUNDATION www.rockcliffeparkfoundation.org

Who We Are and What We Do

Most Rockcliffe Park residents have heard of the "Friends of the Village of Rockcliffe Park Foundation" (also referred to as "The Village Foundation" or "the Foundation"), but many are hazy on what this organization actually does. It's a mouthful of a name that doesn't reveal its purpose.

The Village Foundation had its start in the summer of 1996. Its purpose was to preserve Rockcliffe's distinct character and nature when amalgamation with the City of Ottawa occurred.

The main role of the Foundation is to be the steward of funds available for projects, activities and events that benefit Rockcliffe Park residents in many different ways. The Foundation provides a grant of between $15,000 and $30,000 every year to the City of Ottawa; the City, at its discretion, transfers those monies to the Rockcliffe Park Residents Association (RPRA) for use in the community.

The Foundation's funds come solely from donations. The organization is a registered charity, and therefore eligible donors receive a charitable tax receipt.

It's a win-win situation – the neighbourhood directly benefits from those same funds raised to allow for many community events that might not otherwise be possible. Additionally, these funds help maintain our neighbourhood's quiet and treed environment, and provide ongoing care to protect precious Rockcliffe Park resources like McKay Lake and the Pond.

You may be familiar with some of the annual events the RPRA organizes with funds that come from The Village Foundation:

- · Christmas Tree Lighting and Carol Sing
- Children's Christmas Party
- Spring Clean-up
- Movie Nights in the Jubilee Garden
- Speakers Series

You may be less familiar with the monies dispersed every year from the Foundation to support neighbourhood sports, recreation, libraries, history and other areas. The Friends of the Village of Rockcliffe Park Foundation has helped to fund the following:

- Family-oriented events such as the Village Fête, held on the 90th Anniversary of the Village's incorporation
- Heritage Trolley Tour event
- Plaques and historical artifacts installed in our public spaces
- Oral history transcripts project
- Heritage Site Plan inventory
- Building of the updated pavilion in the Jubilee Garden in 1999
- Community Hall lectern
- Publication of The Rockcliffe News and the Welcome to Rockcliffe Park booklet
- Websites for Rockcliffe Park, developed by the RPRA, and The Village Foundation
- Martha Edmond's book, Rockcliffe Park: A History of the Village, which is sold at Books on Beechwood to recover costs
- Rebuilding in 2001 of the sports field (soccer pitch) on the grounds of Rockcliffe Park Public School (RPPS)
- Soccer field rehabilitation in 2004 and 2010
- Maintenance of the sports field on the grounds of RPPS
- Grants to the Ottawa Public Library and RPPS Library
- Library branch science collection for children
- Tree inventory updates to ensure our valued tree canopy is healthy, and tree planting on verges and green spaces
- Ongoing McKay Lake conservation and wildlife area protection; Pond water testing for algae and water levels

We also assisted in the St. Brigid School playground renewal under the Community Grants Program.

"Friends of the Village of Rockcliffe Park Foundation" is a long name, but its agenda and accomplishments are even longer. All these undertakings benefit the environmental beauty and community spirit of our neighbourhood and help to maintain the village atmosphere of Rockcliffe Park.

RPPS BOOK FAIR

Prepare your Shelves for the 58th Annual RPPS Book Fair, November 1 to 3

Come find your "golden ticket" at the 2019 Rockcliffe Park Public School Book Fair. Students are excited for this year's theme: Roald Dahl. A writer who appeals to both the young and the young at heart, the inspiration of this award-winning author will be felt throughout this year's event.

Roald Dahl's imagination has taken us on adventures to places beyond belief. His novels capture fantasy and reality in perfect balance. Meaningful morals are intertwined throughout his repertoire – one of the reasons adults return to his stories and children are eager to read them. Some of our younger readers may have been introduced to Roald Dahl through films by acclaimed producers like Tim Burton and Wes Anderson. You can also find productions of five of his books on Broadway!

The RPPS Book Fair has been our school's top fundraiser for nearly 60 years! We welcome you to visit thousands of donated books over three days in the RPPS gymnasium, Queen Juliana Hall. Matilda doppelgangers will have a field day browsing books of every genre, as well as magazines, vinyl records, puzzles and board games. Bookshelves are restocked regularly, so there are new treasures each day. Kids are welcome and can be found "wondering what to read next" in our abundant children's section. They can also explore our Craft Corner. No need to hurry home for lunch; you can enjoy a hot meal, dessert and coffee in our Café.

Book Fair at RPPS is one of our community's most anticipated annual events. Volunteers from the school and community work more than 4,000 hours each year; those generous hours raised $44,000 in 2018. Proceeds are used to sponsor educational field trips, author and illustrator workshops, and literary programing. For a full list of funds management, visit our web page, www.rockcliffeparkbookfair.com.

We hope to see you at the 58th annual RPPS Book Fair, November 1 to 3 in the Rockcliffe Park Public School gymnasium (Queen Juliana Hall - enter off Springfield near Buena Vista Road). Visit www.rockcliffeparkbookfair.com for more information on hours, location and volunteer opportunities, and be sure to follow us on Facebook (Rockcliffe ParkBookFair), Twitter (@rppsbookfair) and Instagram (RPPSbookfair).

CITY HALL

From desk of Rawlson King Councillor, Rideau-Rockcliffe Ward

An Update from Your Councillor

I was pleased to see many residents out at Beechfest enjoying the street festival and was happy to take the opportunity to meet many of you. The summer has been a busy time in my office with lots of work being done on many projects.

By the time you read this, the LRT will be up and running. The LRT will be an improvement to the way our City functions, but I recognize that there will be concerns that will need to be addressed, especially with the transition in bus schedules. I welcome your feedback about the changes to your commute. Contact my office at rideaurockcliffeward@ ottawa.ca to tell me what is and is not working.

Many of you completed our transportation survey, which helps us prioritise where to focus our efforts, and I thank you for that. We hear your concerns about Beechwood Avenue and given that it is a ward boundary, we are working with Councillor Mathieu Fleury and his staff to find cohesive solutions. We intend to introduce gateway speed zones throughout Rideau-Rockcliffe to lower residential speed limits to at least 40 km/h before the end of my term.

We continue to have successful Ward Council meetings. We encourage you to provide your feedback to your community association to contribute to the Ward Council conversation.

The Official Plan consultations continue to take shape and the City welcomes feedback. We were asked by the Rockcliffe Park Heritage Committee whether the Official Plan would include a review of secondary plans – and it will. I know this is a topic which is close to many of you, so we encourage you to reach out directly to the New Official Plan team at newop@ottawa.ca.

Consider attending the Church Bazaar on November 2 at St. Bartholomew's in support of the Cornerstone Women's Shelter. I will be there to open the bazaar at noon and look forward to seeing many residents out and about. St. Bartholomew's is also hosting a Community Get-Together on December 6 in support of Rideau-Rockcliffe Community Resource Centre's food bank. Our federal riding has the highest usage of food banks in the province. I realize that emergency food bank usage is not a long term solution, but the need is acute and our neighbours are in need, so I encourage you to attend the event.

Ottawa's Light Rail Transit System is Here

The O-Train Confederation Line has opened to the public, marking a significant milestone in Ottawa's history with the completion of the largest infrastructure project since the Rideau Canal. It was North America's busiest light rail line at opening and moved over one million people in the first few days. Stage 1 LRT provides rapid and high-quality transit service from Tunney's Pasture Station in the west to Blair Station in the east and improves congestion in the downtown core and the reliability of our transit system.

On Saturday, September 14, I had the privilege of being been joined by my Council colleagues, provincial and federal government representatives, City staff and stakeholders for the official LRT opening ceremony and inaugural ride. This unforgettable event was the culmination of several years of hard work, as well as the establishment of important partnerships with both the public and private sectors.

The dream of a fast and sustainable light rail transit system linking our community together began over 20 years ago. Studies and discussions were succeeded by plans, designs and construction. I'd like to sincerely thank our provincial and federal partners who generously contributed to make this dream a reality.

Thanks to the collective will and effort of thousands of individuals, the Confederation Line is a reality, creating a backbone to support and guide future growth in Ottawa. Construction for Stage 2 LRT is already underway and planning for Stage 3 LRT to bring rail to Kanata-Stittsville and Barrhaven has started.

Stage 2 will extend rail father east to Trim Road, west to Moodie Drive, southwest to Algonquin College and south to Limebank Road, with a spur to the Ottawa Macdonald-Cartier International Airport. It will add 44 kilometres of track and 24 new stations. With these extensions in place, the light rail network will be fully integrated with cycling and pedestrian pathways to encourage sustainable transportation and links to Ottawa's major residential, employment, commercial and cultural hubs. Once completed, approximately 77 percent of Ottawa's population will live within five kilometres of LRT.

I invite all Ottawa residents to explore the O-Train Confederation Line 1 – our new, reliable, clean, quiet and comfortable 12.5 kilometre LRT system with 13 beautiful and fully accessible stations. Please join us in celebrating this significant milestone in our City's transportation history, which is transforming Ottawa into a more connected and accessible city.

The future of transit in Ottawa is here. Welcome aboard! More information is available at www.octranspo.com and www.jimwatsonottawa.ca.

NEIGHBOURHOOD WATCH

Beware of Phone and Email Fraud

Fraudulent phone calls and emails are becoming ever more sophisticated and plausible. The primary objective is to persuade victims to send money, but this type of crime may also involve identity theft, fraudulent access to bank accounts, or planting of computer viruses. Some recent scams:

Calls from criminals impersonating police or the Canada Revenue Agency, alleging taxes owing, and threatening victims with legal action or even arrest if they don't call back and pay up right away. This is a scam - police or CRA would never contact you by phone or email to tell you that money is owing. Calls claiming to be from a bank or utility company, telling you there is a fraud alert and asking for personal and billing information. This enables them to commit identity theft. A call or email informing you that you have a virus on your computer and offering to fix it remotely. The goal here is to gain access to your computer, which then gives the thief access to your passwords, bank accounts, etc. The "one-ring" scam – your phone rings once then stops, tempting you to call back to find out who called. If you do, you are calling what is effectively a 1-900 number and will be charged a flat fee plus a time charge, which could amount to hundreds of dollars. The "grandparent" scam - a call from someone claiming to be a grandchild in trouble, asking for money to be sent urgently, without telling Mom or Dad. So much information is posted on social media that it's easy for scammers to pick up enough details to back up a cry for help. If you're possibly at risk here, arrange a secret code word with your grandchild for them to use if there's ever a genuine emergency. An unexpected request for funds from someone you know, possibly a request for gift cards to be bought and sent to them, is likely to be a scam. If you want to check with the purported sender, don't use the email's "reply" function but send a new message.

To stay safe, stay sceptical. Scammers have technology to make false caller IDs or disguised numbers show up on your phone, and to attach any name they choose to an email link (this is called "spoofing"). False websites can be set up that look very much like the real thing; colours and graphics will have been copied from the genuine site. Whenever you're in any doubt, terminate the communication and contact the institution using a phone number or email address from your own records. No legitimate organization will have a problem with that. Kay James, Coordinator

WILDLIFE NOTES

The Pied-billed Grebes I first heard on the lake on 2 May stayed and produced young, the male's loud song ringing across the lake during the summer. They are not regular breeders. My first record is the summer of 2010. They also nested in 2011, 2012 and 2013, but not again until this year.

A Robin pair centered their territory on our garden, as usual, and on 4 May the female was sitting tight in a nest on a ledge under our carport. The young all fledged. The empty nest was immaculately clean. A month later the female of what must be the same pair because it used the same nest, was incubating again on 8 June. That brood also all fledged. To my surprise, a third nesting took place, sheltered by grape leaves at the top edge of the carport – within a few metres of the first two nestings, so almost certainly the same adult pair. Young were being fed when I found the nest in the last days of July, they fledged about 4 August.

We encouraged, and now fight to contain, a milkweed patch to be of use to breeding Monarch butterflies. They have laid eggs once before, so we were happy this summer that Monarchs visited over a series of days when the plants bloomed. But each Monarch flew directly to the milkweed leaves, paused for a moment and then moved on. No egg laying. Aphids soon became very abundant on the leaves, attracting wasps and flies to the sticky leaf coating. We have also been visited by deep-coloured Red Admirals. Neighbour John Brooks took the photo above of a Painted Lady (Vanessa cardui) on his flowers.

I first noticed an adult Chickadee bringing food to young in a nesting box on 13 June. All members of two broods of Chickadees fledged from the four nesting boxes I maintain in our garden and a neighbour's.

Delightfully tame diminutive Chipping Sparrows again nested in an adjacent garden but spent much time searching the ground in our garden, first collecting food for their nestlings, then bringing their flying young in June to learn to feed. While I watched them feeding on 30 July, a larger Song Sparrow flew into the garden twice to collect nesting material, great beakfulls of dried grass stems. Song Sparrows are amongst the first migrants to arrive, so this nesting would have been a second or third effort.

August ripening of the butternuts in the tree tight against our house brings squirrels. A single Red Squirrel collects the nuts for its winter hoard, and tries hard to drive off Grey Squirrels and their black colour morphs. The afternoon of the 19th I happened to be at a window within a few metres of the trunk. A Grey came rapidly up the trunk and then zipped out on a large limb that ended in a tuft of new growth. No hesitation, it knew just where it was going. The instant it reached the tuft it made a spectacular somersault reversal and streaked back down the branch, hotly driven by the Red whose teeth were within inches of its tail. The Red had been out of sight in the tuft.

This summer I've seen and heard many more visits by Ravens than usual, always a pair, circling and calling above the ridge on the east side of the lake. Ravens have nested twice in the Village to my knowledge, without managing to raise young. Thinking about it again?

Rockcliffe Park Update

Tree Removal

McKay Lake path walkers may have noticed some red Xs or markers on trees adjacent to the shoreline fence. These trees and three others near the Bittern Court condos will be removed this winter – to prevent incipient fence damage or because they are dead. I reviewed this tree removal with City forestry staff so please don't worry – these are trees that need to go.

Buckthorn

Invasive buckthorn removal continues in the McKay Lake woodlot area. Over the years, the large ones have been removed and we are now focusing on small buckthorns those that sprouted from seeds lying dormant in the ground.

But as we walk around the Village, we see a number of larger buckthorn tree with blue berries that will continue to contribute to the problem of invasive plants in Rockcliffe. Do you have a tree or shrub on your property that has bunches of very dark blue berries on it now? If so, it could be buckthorn and it is one of the plants that the Ontario Invasive Plant Council recommends removing from private and public properties in order to aid conservation and biodiversity efforts in Ontario.

Find information at https://www.ontarioinvasiveplants.ca/wpcontent/uploads/2018/05/OIPC BMP Buckthorn May28 2012 D61.pdf.

Why do we worry about buckthorn? When birds or small mammals eat the berries they may regurgitate the berries and/or the seeds, leading to the spread elsewhere, such as the conservation area on McKay Lake and the Pond, or a neighbour's property. Buckthorn also alters the nitrogen levels in soil, creating conditions that discourage or prevent the growth of native plants.

If you are not sure if your tree or shrub is a buckthorn, give me a call at 613 746-6145 or send an email to iolamprice @gmail.com and I will come and identify the tree. I also plan to leave a letter at the homes of people with visible buckthorn trees.

Every leaf speaks bliss to me,
Fluttering from the autumn tree...

– Emily Brontë

Fall is a time of change. And change can sometimes be challenging.

Conversations about change can be complicated. It can be hard to broach subjects between family members that we aren't sure they will agree with, or we may get frustrated when spouses or siblings don't share our point of view. At times, it can be truly hard to listen to one another.

"Think about what you want, explore your options, make a plan and talk to the people you love about your decision. Being proactive is the best way to ensure we have the choice and control we want as we age."
